Salvation Songs

"Oh, wait me now," 151; "Rocked in the cradle," 154.

"Room for Jesus," 158; "New era tell," 158.

Have you any room for Jesus—
He who bore your load of sin?
As He knocks and asks admission,
Slaves, will you let Him in?

Room for Jesus, King of Glory!
Hasten now, His word obey!
Bring your heart's door wide open!
Bid Him enter while you may.

Room for pleasure, room for business;
But for Christ the Crucified—
Not a place that He can enter,
In the heart for which He died.

Have you any time for Jesus?
As in grace He calls again?
Oh, "Today" is "time accepted,"
Tomorrow you may call in vain.

Room and time now give to Jesus;
Will you pass God's day of grace?
Soon your heart be cold and silent,
And your Saviour's pleading cease.

A Prayer for a Flaming Heart

Oh, make my life one blazing fire
Of pure and fervent heart-desire
That I may find the low to rise,
And give them cause Thy name to praise.

Because, wherever I may go,
I show Thy power to every foe.

"At the cross there's room," 227.

Sinner, whoso'er thou art,
At the cross there's room.

Tell the burden of thy heart,
At the cross there's room!

Cast away thy every fear,
Only speak, and He will hear,
At the cross there's room!

Hearts then, wanderers, tarry not;
Seek that consecrated spot;
Heavy-laden, sore opprest,
Love can soothe thy troubled breast;

In the Saviour find thy rest.

Thoughtless sinner, come today,
Hark! the Bride and Spirit say,
New a living fountain see,
Open'd here for thee and me.

Rich and poor, for bond and free,
Blessed thoughts! For every one
Love's abiding work is done;
Streams of boundless mercy flow,
Free to all who thither go;
Oh, that all the world might know!

Let love be first let love be last,
Its light o'er all my life be cast.
Come now, my Saviour, from above,
And deluge all my soul with love,
So that, wherever I may go,
Thy love shall conquer every foe.

Hundred Times in Prison
Attracted by the music, "Dungar Jack," who is now a good Salvationist, stumbled out of his favorite public house, and was carried along by the crowd that followed the Band to the Army hall. Throughout the meeting Jack was in an unusually agitated state of mind. He knew he ought to be saved, but he had such a lot to give up. In addition, the devil reminded him that only the night before he had "spotted" a certain "cop"—a fine house, easy of entry, where there was sure to be plenty of "swag." Jack was about to leave the hall when the Officer spoke to him. He also (Continued on Column Four)

Eyes are dim with constant weeping,
Hears are faint with bitter pain,
For a faithful friend has left us,
Never to visit earth again.

When the sun was shining brightly,
And the crowds passed to and fro,
Came an angel down from glory,
With the whitens of the snow.

And removed our loving comrade
From the friends who fed so well,
Anxious to relieve the suffering
Of the loved one, who had fallen

At her post, while doing duty
In her humble sphere in life;
"Whatsoever" was her watchword,
Warrior, mother, sister, wife.

Loved by all, both Jew and Gentile,
In the office, at the bench,
In the workshop, at the sick-bed,
Greatly loved wherever you went

Giving "Grip" or kindly message,
Shedding light along the way,
Leaving others feeling better
For your "Bless you" by the way.

We have heard your earnest message
In the street and Army hall,
Urging saints to closer union,
"Telling sinners, "Hear the call."

Represent our work, dear comrade,
At the throne where Jesus stands;
You will know Him by His pleading,

For we know love paved the way."

Nearing Home By Commissioner Lewley

In times of strife, my mind is there—
In Heaven, where peace dwells everywhere!
My heart soars up to worlds above,
Where God is King and reigns in love.
A few more miles will end the race!
Then I shall see Him face to face,
Behold my Saviour and my King,
Through endless days His praise to sing.

A few more storms, then storms are o'er—
No storms e'er beat upon that shore,
My anchor cast, furling every sail,
Safe, safe at last within the veil.

A few more days, then home, sweet home,
Within the gate, no more to roam;
At home with Him Who died for me,
And gave His all to set me free.

A few more tears, then tears farewell—
No tears with God can ever dwell;
The cause of pain and tears is past,
The better world is mine at last.

No wonder the police and residents were delighted with the capture, for in addition to being a heavy drinker

On being told by one of his old

The Salvation Army's Armistice Day Service in the City of London, Showing Part of the Immense Crowd

FROM the balcony of the Mansion House on Armistice Day a Salvation Army service, attended by 30,000 people, was conducted by Commissioner Mapp, supported by leading members of the Headquarters Staff, and assisted by the Staff Band. Well-known hymns were sung, prayer offered, and the "Last Post" sounded. A description of the event appears on page 3.

AN ADDRESS BY THE LATE
MRS. GENERAL BOOTH

"Money or No Money"
Here is another case. At some service in the West of England, a gentleman, largely interested in an unbusiness, came every week for three weeks, and used to sit through the picture of despair and wretchedness, until after ten o'clock. He went on this way until his friends thought he would lose his reason. He was walking about his bedroom with his Bible open, struggling down every new and then, struggling down wrestling and trying to believe; but every time he thought of this ungodly habit which he could not give up, despair seized him (for he thought of his money—his thought of the consequences to his family), until at last he said, "Money or no money, I will settle it." He gave it up, came out, and got saved at once.

By The Late GENERAL BOOTH

And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. This he said, signifying what death he should die.
—John xii. 32-33.

I Am a Child of God

I am a child of God. I can with confidence call God my Father. I know that Jesus Christ is my Saviour, and that He has pardoned my sins. I have been converted—that is, my heart and life have been changed by the Spirit of God. The fear of Death and Judgment and Hell has been taken away. I love God, and want to please Him. I hate sin, and want to be entirely delivered from it. I pray and read my Bible, and love Christ's people. I do instant, as the clock struck eleven, every man bared his head, one endured a thrill of emotion beyond words to express. One got a new understanding of the pity of Jesus when He was "moved with compassion because of the multitude."

During the Two Minutes, when the whole city was mantled in silence, only the mournful cooing of the pigeons and the sob of a woman could be heard. The effect was unfathomable.

An admirable description of the scene was given by the "Daily Telegraph," from which we take the following extracts:

"Not within living memory has such an enormous crowd gathered in front of the Mansion House and in its immediate neighborhood. Masking Day was the nearest approach to a parade, but did not equal it. Shortly after 10:30 a detachment from the chief offices of The Salvation Army, many hundreds strong, and headed by the Band, took their position in the Grand Avenue. The members of the Band took their places on the balcony, on its top. Every window, roof and balcony was packed, and there probably have never been more people gathered at one time on the broad roads of the portico at the Royal Exchange. The Lord Mayor was at Westminster in the morning, and the Lord Mayor Sir Charles Wakefield and Sir Horace Brooks Marshall, both former the goal aimed at, the spirit and the conduct in life. His words, applied to the peculiar needs and aims of young people today, brought before the mind of every listener the need for being freed for the greater activities which can only be accomplished when, as we speak of old, there is "another spirit" in us.

Clapton's Young People's Councils seem hardly complete without either the presence of, or some message from The General, but, as the Chief of the Staff suggested, he, away in Chicago, would be thinking of his young warriors in London, and a cordial message of greeting and assurance of prayers was sent to our Leader.

Speakers from Mission Field
At the commencement of the afternoon session a forest of hands emphasized the triumph of the song, "All the nations we shall win with Fire and Blood," and Officers from distant countries told of what has already been done towards the achievement of this Divine purpose. Staff-Captain Smith, from the West Indies, on his way to West Africa; Adjutant Drury

Lord Mayers, attended between the two columnar spaces facing the great crowd. The traffic, however, was not impeded. The page of the traffic, Commissioner Mapp stopped to the front of the balcony, and the choir, which had been raised, which ensured instant silence, announced, "Let us now all join in singing the hymn which is usually recited by the men unworried, and with faces turned to the Mansion House, the grand old hymn. After an interval of a few seconds, 'Rock of Ages' was sung, and then, 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.' To those who were facing the balcony, the hymn was sung, and that practically everybody was joining in the singing. The hymns were followed by a hymn, 'The Lord's Prayer,' accompanied by the Band admirable. There could be no question from the reverent and solemn manner of the singing, with which they joined in the singing, that the informal little service was being conducted in accordance with their desires.

"As the nearest church clock rang out the first stroke of eleven o'clock, everybody stood quiet still. At that moment, the silence was broken by the shrill notes of a bugle sounding 'The Last Post.' Following this, Commissioner Mapp, in a clear, powerful voice, which could be heard for a considerable distance, offered an appropriate prayer, saying that the 'war-mutilated' soldiers of the World War heads. Then came the singing of 'O God, our help in ages past,' and then impressive services concluded with the National Anthem, which was sung with great spirit. The crowd then dispersed to their homes, and in less than five minutes the normal life of the city was in full swing."

The Lord Mayor later sent the Chief of the Staff a message in which he expressed his cordial appreciation of the proceedings and his thanks for the services rendered by The Salvation Army.

the night season, typical of the fitful moods of dismay and disappointment which swept across the minds of many gathered there. And as the moaning of the wind was followed by restful calm, so disturbed souls found peace in accepting the way of joy through sacrifice, talked of so eloquently by the Chief of the Staff.

"A spirit of faith such as Caleb had, a spirit which ignores the mundane things of time, a spirit brave and strong with the strength of God; this is what you need."

As words such as these sank into the ready minds of the Young People, the unattractiveness of being earth-bound and the glory of spiritual freedom became more and more evident. These Young People's Councils are the best testimony for the work of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of the young people of our time. At the first meeting of the Young People's Council at the University of Chicago, the pastor had the prayer meeting commenced than a procession of young men and women began to wend its way to the front of the building. This was steadily maintained throughout the long and powerful prayer meeting until one hundred and sixty-three had gathered at the front of the building, and the peace which came alone from perfect surrender.

Fruits of Persecution

The Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, in 1685, and the persecution which followed, had the effect of driving out of France four hundred thousand Protestants, among the most intelligent, the most industrious, the most religious of the population. They went to Great Britain and other lands that offered them asylum. Composed largely of merchants, manufacturers and millwrights, they arrived with them their knowledge, skill, taste, and aptitude for business. From them England learnt the art of manufacturing silk, crystal glass, and the most delicate kinds of jewelry.

to some other of Paul's utterances?

Look at that particular sin or sins when discovered, until you see and feel their hatefulness, and until you detest and loathe them.

I find that these evils manifest themselves in my conversation, in the manner I discharge my family duties, in the way I conduct my business, and in almost every part of my daily life.

I feel that these evils damage my example as a Salvationist, and very often prevent my reproving sin in those around me, because I feel when I do so that I lay myself open to the charge, "Physician, heal thyself." I feel that these "evils" interfere greatly with my happiness, causing me much

But, most deplorable of all, I know that these evils grieve my Saviour, because contrary to His Will concerning me, and in direct opposition to His word.

I am sure I hate these sins, and long to be delivered from them.

THIRD STEP

I Believe That Jesus Christ Can

From what I have read in the Bible, I know what I have heard from my comrades, and by the light God has given me by His Holy Spirit in my own heart, I now see and believe that it is possible for me to be delivered from my inward and outward sins, and that I can be made holy in this life. I believe that I can, as the Scriptures say, be cleansed from all filthiness of the flesh and of the spirit, and be enabled to live in perfect holiness in the fear of the Lord.

MORE than one thousand Young People gathered at Clapton for the second day of the annual Youth People's Councils on Sunday, Nov. 1. Commencing with the prayer of Commissioner Booth-Tucker at the opening of the morning session, that the "seeds of this world" should be removed from the souls of all present, there ran through each meeting the threat of disaster from the millions of the world. The Chief of the State, in a speech of great interest and earnestness, expressed the great regret and disappointment which existed, despite great expectations of a twelve months ago, and suggested that the reason for this was the ignorance of the Christ-unity most essential to create a new world. He pointed out the great opportunity thus placed in the hands of the Young People of The Army.

Importance of the Goal

A review of The Salvation Army year, with all its developments in Missionary Fields, outlined in graphic terms, followed.

The Chief throughout the day emphasized the supreme importance of

Unconscious Acts

"For as he thinketh in his heart so is he."
—Proverbs xxiii. 7.

It is the thing we do without thinking which shows what we are in character.

A gentleman called to the telephone found it was a lady speaking at the other end; and as soon as he heard her voice he unconsciously raised his hat. He was miles away from the lady, but the well-formed habit asserted of itself and instinctively he performed the act of courtesy.

It is a good thing when good habits slip into the subconscious region of the mind. Right and wrong habits are there when the new nature has been imparted, but instinctive as wrong-doing formerly was.

NOTES ON THE TERRITORIAL COM-
MANDER'S TOUR TO THE WEST AND DAIREN

"Save the World" Army
The next place was Kobe, where a big crowd met the party, and a fine meeting was held in the evening. The following day a start was made for Kasaoka, where the meeting was held in a church. Five recruits were sworn in as soldiers, and a man who had been converted from drunkenness, who had to say a few words of welcome, completely forgot his nice speech and launched out into a soul-inspiring testimony.

Sewal and Mukden Visited
Though not actually included in the tour itinerary, it might not be out of place to mention two other places:
Mukden—This place specially roste itself on the memory of the party because here was seen the effect of wrong-doing, in that two nicely dressed Chinamen were brought from the train and handed over to the authorities as a charge of smuggling opium, the curse of China. It was thought likely that many years' imprisonment would be their fate if the charge was sustained.

South—Here it was a great pleasure to meet Colonel and Mrs. Stevens and to see their faithful band of workers, and to have a passing glimpse of the workers of the Army is doing in the Land of the Morning Calm.

Worthy of special note is the fact that, in spite of the many years that have elapsed, there were quite a number of men who were glad to greet the Territorial Commander and Mrs. Duce. The memory of our Founder, also its treasure, and kept fresh by a number of the comrades who were privileged to see and hear him on the occasion of his only visit to Japan. —Armour-Besart.

In these gracious words the Lady Mayoress of Birmingham (Mrs. W. A. Cadbury) paid tribute to the work carried on at The Army's Industrial Home for Women at Edgbaston. The occasion was the seventeenth anniversary of the opening of the institution, and the Lady Mayoress presided over by her ladyship and addressed by Commissioner Adelaide Cox.

"There are fifty-four women and fourteen children in the Home," explained the Commissioner. "Some have come from the police courts, some from prison, some from infirmaries or shelters, but most have either applied personally or through their relatives for admission to the shelters. The Commissioner added, if funds were forthcoming, to open a separate house for mothers and babies. Already a second house had been taken for "after-care" work, a place where girls who had gone out to situations could spend their holidays, and for a Hostel in which others who did daily work could sleep. This house was being overhauled and another was urgently needed!

Serbia

It will be recalled that some few months ago Colonel Govarna was dispatched to Serbia with a view to the commencement of Salvation Army operations in that country. We regret that, owing to the extraordinary difficulty in procuring any kind of premises, it has been necessary to postpone the actual commencement of our work.

This is a keen disappointment to The General, as it is also to Colonel Govarna, who has striven with untiring zeal to secure the necessary premises without avail. May God bless Serbia and hasten the day when our Army

AFTER West Africa, the East African Territory is to be opened up to Salvation Army. Lt-Colonel and Mrs. Genter left some weeks ago to plant the Blood-and-Fire in Southern Nigeria, from which country operations along the extensive West Coast will be started, and the party of Pioneer Officers who are to assist them took their departure last month. Now the attention of our Leaders is directed to the new Missionary in the Western part of the Unconquered continent. The following interview with Lt-Colonel J. Smith, the Officer chosen to pioneer the work, throws an intensely interesting light on prospects before our Organization in that district.

WITH a huge upsurge spread on the table before him, Lt-Colonel Smith, who has just arrived in London after surveying the area, says that the British War Office representative is a little of what is involved in this latest Army enterprise.

The Territory comprises the newly-established British colony of Kenya, the British Somaliland Protectorate, and the British Indian Ocean Territory, a small island in the west down to the coast, and being bounded on the north by the Gulf of Aden, on the east by the Indian Ocean, and on the south by Tanganyika. The latter territory was formerly known as German East Africa.

Smith was joined by Lt-Colonel Smith were several broad patches of

Of peculiar interest is Lake Malawi, the most prolific soda-producing lake in the world. By evaporation this lake produces 100,000 tons of soda ash in shallow pans 6 feet, and in the desert areas as much as 40 feet of solid soda. The British War Office representative will soon bring 600,000 tons year.

It is, however, with the people of the Territory that the British War Office is most concerned. There are, as Colonel Smith explained, present in Kenya 100,000 British troops, 5,000 to 20,000 Africans, and 2,700,000 natives. It is his last that the Army has primed. The British War Office representative says that the British War Office is most concerned with the elements lies within the rest of possibility.

The coastal strip, where the climate is humid and tropical, but there are extensive highland districts where the climate is more temperate. The Kilimanjaro, upon which there is 6,000 feet of perpetual snow; Mount Kenya, with its snow-capped peak 19,341 feet high. On the uplands surrounded by these great heights many Europeans are engaged in agriculture. There are about 1,500 ex-servicemen having settled there since the armistice. With a temperate climate, a good coffee, wheat, and banana for sugar manufacture, fruit and, in some parts, maize, the uplands are one of the most fertile areas in the whole of East Africa.

The Chief of the Staff

The Chief of the Staff spared time in the midst of a busy week at International Headquarters to visit Nottingham and conduct the United Holiness Meeting in the William Booth Memorial Hall. The splendid building was packed to excess, many being, in fact, turned away.

None, however, went away disappointed with the message, which was full of clear, straight, and practical truth on the grand theme of Full Salvation, delivered in the Chief's well-known fervid and compelling manner. In the Prayer Meeting seven sought the Blessing.

Mrs. Commissioner Higgins
Mrs. Commissioner Higgins spent Sunday at Sheffield Hill, where she led an inspiring Campaign. The Holy Week Meeting took place in the City Hall, where 2000 seekers followed an earnest and clearly-thought out program of the subject.

For the night and evening messages the Unity Picture House was secured, and in this splendid place a large number of people were gathered. In the afternoon Mrs. Higgins gave a graphic and fascinating account of her recent visit to the Holy Land. Her story was educational and inspiring.

For the Salvation battle at night Mrs. Higgins brought her best powers of heart and mind into play, and the audience was very responsive and to the unconverted. Fifteen responded at the pentecost-form.

Mrs. Commissioner Howard's Bereavement

Mrs. Commissioner Howard has suffered a sudden bereavement in the death of her sister, Miss Beatie Wessell, who passed away at the advanced age of seventy-two. Miss Wessell had resided with Commissioner and Mrs. Howard for a period of many years and was a member of the International Order of the Home, but the many Salubry Army associations that necessarily centered there.

Her death was caused her to be in indifferent health for some time, but there were no indications of this, her approaching end. The Commissioner and his wife were in the sitting room reading in company with her when she fell, and expired. Colonel Fugère conducted the funeral.

Prayer is the voice of faith.—Horne.

SINCE the beginning of constitutional laws, the problems of crime prevention and punishment of crime have troubled the minds of serious men. It has been found hard to strike the medium between turning the offender into a hardened criminal through the influence of severe punishment, and encouraging wrongdoing by the infliction of unduly light penalties. Amendments have been made for considerable mental powers, and an Army Officer visiting the prison was attracted by his intelligent countenance. He spoke to him and after much reflection came on the lady's part gained his story slowly and carefully—for the boy was in a defiant, unrepentant state of mind—the Officer showed the foolishness of his intentions and gradually won him to a consideration of the Love of Christ. For many days the lad maintained his bitter spirit, and then he surrendered his young heart to the will of God.

To Begin Life Afresh
The wardens noticed an immediate change in his disposition, and stripes for good conduct were soon awarded. Not content with this, the Officer communicated with the parents and brought about a reconciliation. When the time of his discharge came he was sent by The Salvation Army to one of the colonies, there to begin life afresh amid new surroundings. As a Local Officer in our ranks today there is no one more respected in that township.

where he was vowing vengeance on the

Editor's Desk

THIS issue, with exception of the Christmas Number which is already in many of our readers' hands, will be the last to be published in this year. Our next number will appear week ending Jan. 1st, 1921.

We have been blessed with a measure of success during the past months for which we are deeply grateful, and our earnest wish for the Canada West War Cry during the coming year is that it will be used more than ever it has been in the past as a medium, First for spreading the pure and unadulterated Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Second: For publishing an up-to-date record of the doings of our world-wide, God-raised, and Divinely led Army. Third: For the inspiring of others to fight for their Redeemer beneath the sacred banner, the Yellow, the Red, and the Blue.

We take this opportunity to thank our readers, our contributors, and especially those who have given expression to a kindly word of encouragement from time to time. In the remaining days of this year we would exhort one and all to join with us, and in 1921, as Paul the great Apostle, let us say, and by the grace of God carry out, "this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Under The Army Flag

Commenting editorially on the great public service conducted by the Salvation Army in London on Armistice Day, The British War Cry says:

"Armistice Day was a proud day for the Salvation Army. Not only was the Chief of the Staff, in the presence of the General, and the representative of the Organization to participate in the solemn observances carried out by the King's Messenger, but in the very heart of the city, the metropolis of the world, The Army of all intents and purposes took possession and carried through a solemn service unbroken by anything but the most intense and fervent patriotism. Time was not only religious privileges but many of the common rights of citizenship. They were howled at, spat upon, and hustled off the pavement. Now that we are coming back to our own lot we praise God, but strive to pass over our own humiliations and to preserve a spirit that has made The Salvation Army the exalted name it now is in the world."

CONDUCTS STIRRING "SEEK TO SAVE" CAMPAIGN AT REGINA—HOLDS COUNCIL WITH OFFICERS PREPARATORY TO LAUNCHING CAMPAIGN—MEETING AT PROVINCIAL GAOL

FOLLOWING up his successful series of Councils with the Young People at Regina, the Commissioner launched his "Seek to Save" campaign. Reports are to hand of the meetings up to date. Further particulars will be published in due course.

On Monday, Nov. 22, the Commissioner conducted an Officers' Council with the visiting and residing Officers at Regina. A nice tea was arranged by the Divisional Officer, after which the Officers listened to an inspiring message from our Leader. Whether it be few or many, the Commissioner is ever ready to impart knowledge and wisdom regarding those things pertaining to the Kingdom.

The first meeting of the campaign was held at the City of Regina. The Chief Secretary, Brigadier McLean and Major Sims were present. Lt.-Colonel Morris led a brief testimony meeting and many expressions of personal experience were given. Captains George and Tom Mundy sang an appropriate duet, and other visiting Officers spoke. The Commissioner's address was most convincing. Of the "Great God, Ghost, and evidently fired with an indomitable zeal for the Glory of Christ and the Salvation of souls, the Commissioner made a powerful appeal. At the conclusion of this first gathering we had the joy of seeing eight souls decide for Christ.

The Gael Visited
The following day brought with it a time of activity for our Leader. An inspection took place at D.H.Q., following which the Commissioner and party paid a visit to the Provincial Gaol, where for over an hour a meeting was conducted with the men. Over 100 of all ages were present, from the youth of 15 to the elderly man of 60. What a sight! What blighted lives! What broken hearts! But what a joy to us to tell them of The Great Deliverer. The Commissioner's words were cordial to these poor unfortunate men. He did not chide them for their sin, neither rebuke them for their misdeeds, but as one "whom his meekness and gentleness has made a father," he led them to think of brighter prospects and called for decisions for Christ. There was a ready response, and fifteen men, reverent and thoughtfully stood up, indicating their desire and intention to follow Christ. The sight was most impressive, and as we drove back those six miles to the city to attend another meeting our hearts were warmed as we thought of the Master's words, "I was in prison, and ye visited Me." The Commissioner and party took tea at Deputy Warden Reynolds'.

The Soldiers' Meeting
A fine crowd of soldiers and ex-soldiers gathered at 8 p.m. The Chief Secretary in his characteristic manner conducted a bright experience meeting, called upon by the Divisional Officer, and sang. The Colonel's words of testimony were most soul-stirring. The men, however, were not under the leadership of the Commanding Officer, rendered a very appropriate selection entitled "I'll give Thee My Best."

Our Leader spoke with great power and entered into the hearts of the soldiers, reminding them of their responsible and exalted position as saviors of men. The men, however, were not under the leadership of the Commanding Officer, rendered a very appropriate selection entitled "I'll give Thee My Best."

Chief Secretary's
Notes

PROMOTION—The Commissioner informs us that The General has promoted Brigadier John McLean to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. We tender to our comrade and Mr. McLean our congratulations, and wish for him many more years of successful fighting in the ranks of The Army as Officer. It is thirty-three and one-half years since the Colonel became a Cadet, and thirty years and four months since Mr. McLean entered training.

Watch Night Services—The General has decided that the first week in the New Year is to be devoted to a "Watch Night" for reconsecration. The first week in the New Year to be given up to this purpose commences with a Watch Night of December 31, 1920. It is to be a simultaneous movement, and many of them came to a definite knowledge of Jesus in this way.

The Salvation meeting at night was another indication of the God's blessing upon us. The ready testimonies, the bright singing, the fervent prayers, and the deep and earnest atmosphere. Brigadier McLean led the singing, and many of those who had never found the peace and came to the front. The night was very touching, and we are encouraged to believe that many of them came to a definite knowledge of Jesus in this way.

Be ye reconciled to God—The Commissioner's address at D.H.Q. was a tender and varied experience which forcibly portrayed Christ as the great reconciler and healer. "A new spirit will be upon you, and your eyes will be opened to heavenly things; a new power will be yours; and your heart will be given to you, and a new name."

Again God manifested Himself in more souls, being twenty-two to date.

LATER (as we go to Press)
The power of God continues to be displayed in our midst. Attendances are increasing. While the Commissioner was in Regina, the Divisional Officer was interviewing the Premier and other leading gentlemen, Brigadier McLean, with Major Sims, and others, conducting a service at the Citadel on Thursday night. Many of the men, who were in the new-found joy, were testified to their new-found joy.

Two hours at the Cross—The special meeting opened with stirring singing and earnest prayers, which, to use a common expression, literally "piled" the power down. The Commissioner called upon by the Divisional Officer, and sang. The Colonel's words of testimony were most soul-stirring. The men, however, were not under the leadership of the Commanding Officer, rendered a very appropriate selection entitled "I'll give Thee My Best."

Our Leader spoke with great power and entered into the hearts of the soldiers, reminding them of their responsible and exalted position as saviors of men. ## Chicago's Welcome to The General

Three Hundred and Eighty-five Seekers as First Fruits of Campaign

Full Report of Chicago's Overwhelming Welcome is Now to Hand, Excerpts from Which Will Be Found Recorded Below—Commander Eva Booth Heads Central Territory Troops in an Enthusiastic Reception

IT was late on Friday night when The General arrived from Winnipeg, but there was a large gathering at the station, and it was amid shouts of greeting that made the building ring, and crashing martial music from the Staff Band that, with the Commander at his side, and with Commissioners Lamb, Lowley and Pears at hand, he came to the front. Photographers set off flashes with frequency, and the General, with his characteristic modesty, and his characteristic humility, endeavored to keep the public interest from the scene. He was met by the Commissioner, and the two of them, with the Commander, went to the inner sanctum of the General's quarters.

Council with Young People Preceded in Results
Those who have heard The General tell of his own life will know something of the reward that he has received on the fine body of young folk who left their Saturday afternoon recreations to spend the time with him in the No. 1 Citadel.

When The General entered there was a roar of welcome, everybody standing and shouting and clapping, and waving and in some way or other trying to make each other and The General himself understand how much they revered and loved him, and how they appreciated the fact that he should give his first meeting to the Young People.

Armistice Day Service Conducted by The Salvation Army at Cardiff
The Great Armistice Day service was preceded by a Salvation Army special service at the Memorial, attended by upwards of fifteen thousand people. Bereaved mothers and wives and service-men—among whom were many Salvationists—formed a large proportion of the immense concourse.

As quick as the silence descended the Salvation Army band, headed by the Naval Brigade, proceeded to the Central Hall, where eleven hundred people had gathered. The band played a stirring march, and the building for a service to synchronize with the solemn ceremonial in Westminster Abbey.

The immensity of Mrs. Booth's task was increased in proportion to the attendance, as compared with that at Exeter, Birmingham, Newcastle, Leeds, Belfast, and Manchester; but she rose to the task. Physically and mentally Mrs. Booth was in splendid form, and her gifts of heart and intellect were lavished upon her Officers, whose response was overflowing in the proof of devotion, understanding, and willingness to obey.

CONDUCTS INSPIRING FINAL SESSIONS OF FIELD OFFICERS' COUNCILS IN LONDON, ENGLAND

MRS. BOOTH held in London on Tuesday and Wednesday, the last of her Field Councils for this season, and it is agreed by all who were in a position to speak that they were without the least doubt the finest of the series.

For one thing, they were greater in numbers than any which came before, and used this privilege, and from deeply moving stories of personal difficulties and triumphs, and from stirring addresses called upon to speak were Lieutenant Colonel James Smith, the Pioneer Officer, and Adjutant Annie Beckley, who has worked among the lepers in Java and in the East African colonies, and was also present.

Mrs. Booth was supported by Colonel Laurie, Chief Secretary; Colonel Holmes, Staff Secretary; Colonel Rich, Field Secretary for Men; and Lieutenant Colonel Cameron, Field Secretary for Women.

front: Walking at the head of her troops was the Commander, with Commissioner Pears on one side, and the General on the other. When a suitable place was reached the Commander stood on an elevation and reviewed the procession, receiving amid volleys and cheers the loyal salutes of her Officers and troops.

Officers and Local Officers
Of the Officers' Councils much could be written. The value of the two and a half days The General spent with the Staff and Field Officers cannot be overestimated. The hours spent together, as both the Commander and Commissioner Pears emphasized in the stirring addresses in which they thanked The General for his efforts, resulted in a better acquaintance of leaders and people, the effect for good of which upon the future relationship of one to the other, and consequently upon the fortunes of The Army in the campaign, are but before it is calculable.

Wood's Theatre Crowded for Public Welcome
It was with the utmost difficulty we fought our way into Wood's Theatre on Sunday afternoon. The building, big as it was, was crowded from floor to ceiling, and the only place left was a little at the back of the stalls, where a number of people had to be turned away.

The two thousand or so who did get in, however, were not disappointed. They demonstrated whenever they were addressed by the General, the Commander, the Hon. David B. Commissioner Jeffries conducted a Salvation campaign during the week-end at Springfield. Saturday night's open-air bombardment attracted fresh people to the hall, where a drunkard knelt at the mercy-seat.

The Senior Band and Songsters and the recently-formed Young People's Band and Singing Company passed in review before the Commissioner on Sunday afternoon and were commended on their progress.

Part of the time was devoted to testimony. Young Officers, as well as those more seasoned in the fight, used this privilege, and from deeply moving stories of personal difficulties and triumphs, and from stirring addresses called upon to speak were Lieutenant Colonel James Smith, the Pioneer Officer, and Adjutant Annie Beckley, who has worked among the lepers in Java and in the East African colonies, and was also present.

The Offensive Sweeps Forward to Victory

With "Seek to Save" for Battle Cry, Officers and Soldiers Make Fresh Onslaughts Against Powers of Darkness with Glorious Results

Soldiers' "Seek to Save"

PORT WILLIAM, Ont.—We had an enjoyable and blessed time during the two days' visit of our Divisional Commander, Staff-Captain Ishbirk. On the afternoon of Nov. 20th an hour was given to the Young People, when the force of habit and the power of example was fully illustrated to them. The night meeting was also in their interests, and a goodly number attended. On Dec. 1st the Staff-Captain gave his song service of 60 songs in 60 minutes. At the close one young man sought and found salvation. The Devil's forces are deeply entrenched in Port William, but with prayer, faith and work, Ensign and Mrs. Johnston, are forging ahead against the powers of darkness.

PORT ARTHUR HOSTEL.—Captain Stewart and his band of workers are forging ahead at Port Arthur Hostel and signs of victory are manifest in every branch of the social work. Sunday, Nov. 22nd, proved a day of great blessing. The jail meeting in the afternoon was conducted by Captain Stewart, assisted by Captain F. Mundy, and at the close three men raised their hands signifying they had made their peace with God as a result of the meeting. The patients at the hospital were visited and prayed with next. Words of cheer were spoken and War Cry distributed.

At night the second of a series of Sunday night meetings was conducted in the Hostel, and it was good to see no less than thirty men file into the sitting room and to hear them sing and listen to the "Old, Old Story of the Cross." The spirit of the men sang, and the attentiveness with which they listened to the message of the Gospel, were most encouraging. Captain Mundy sang, and a recital was made by Captain and Mrs. Stewart and Captain Mundy. Our hopes are high for greater victories during the winter months, and we are earnestly praying that God will use these meetings to bring salvation to the men who seldom attend the House of God. Captain Stewart has been very active of late in procuring employment for men released from jail, and several have been placed in good positions.

This service commences at 10.30 a.m.

All City Corps will unite

EDMONTON III.—We are glad to report good times at our Corps. On Sunday, Nov. 21st, Commandant and Mrs. Brison led on. At all the meetings the power of God was felt in our midst, and at night we rejoiced to see one man kneel at the Mercy-seat. On Thursday, Nov. 25th, Captain and Mrs. Delacour returned from Banff. The Sisters arranged afternoon luncheon, and in addition, presented our Officers with a supply of preserved fruit, pickles, etc. Sunday, December 5th, was also a day of blessing. At the evening service we had with us Adjutant and Mrs. Muttart and their daughter, Fanny. The Adjutant spoke from Job's cry, "Oh that I were as in months past!" and sounded a warning note to the many backsliders in the meeting. One girl

EDMONTON I.—On Thursday, Nov. 25th, the Songsters gave a Service of Song entitled, "In Danger's Hour," bearing on the disaster which overtook the ill-fated ship "Larchmont," a few years ago, on which were ten of our Swedish American Officers on their way to the Scandinavian Congress at New York. G.C. E. Moffit and Bandman Claridge were responsible for the readings, and the Songsters, led by Songster Leader McNeil, provided the singing. The Hollars, speaking on Sunday, Nov. 28th, was led by Commandant and Mrs. Roddick. A number of comrades testified and the Commandant read the lesson. In the afternoon the meeting was taken by the Corps Cadets, led by Captain and Mrs. Myall, in charge. The meeting was most interesting, every Captain Larson, our Divisional Officer, was present and read the scriptures. The program, although somewhat lengthy one, was appreciated by the audience. Considerable credit is due both to Bandmaster Cullen and his faithful Bandmen for the very successful program.

MILFORD, Sask.—We are having good times here and God is blessing our efforts in connection with the "Seek to Save" Campaign. Last Sunday the Corps Cadets and Young People took the meetings and God sent any active part in public work when it gave them an opportunity to "laugh out." Four sons entrusted at the close of the day. On Monday the Young People gave a demonstration entitled, "The Gospel Service," a decided success.

KAMISACK, Sask.—Major G. Smith, our Divisional Officer, was with us recently and gave his latest service "Hercules," which we were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. The Young People sold tickets for this meeting, and the Corps Cadets took a leading part in every meeting. Our Brigade numbers nine, and we hope to have twelve by the New Year. Captain Blackwell enrolled four Soldiers in the Corps. On Dec. 9th, after a good Prayer meeting we finished with one soul at the Cross. Dec. 9th, the Corps Cadets, led by Captain and Mrs. West, God was with us in power all day, and four souls knelt at the Mercy-seat, two of whom were backsliders. We are looking forward to the visit of Major Sims, the I.F. Secretary.

VERNON, B.C.—On Sunday evening, Nov. 21st, the welcome came from new Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Caruthers, took place. Mrs. Caruthers gave a short interesting address in connection with their work among the natives of Alaska, and the Adjutant took the lesson. On the Tuesday following, a musical program, arranged by the Bandmaster, was given, which was followed by a welcome tea. On Sunday, November 28th, we had the pleasure of seeing one soul saved and get gloriously saved.

—Faith.

KAMLOOPS, B.C.—On Sunday, Nov. 28th, four comrades were enrolled by our Commanding Officer, Captain E. Tiegstedt. Our Young People's work is progressing favorably, attendance is increasing, and our Young People are looking forward to Christmas. Our opportunity is to help the needy and by the grace of God we are taking full advantage of them.

where in a timid fashion he gave his first testimony, telling what a miracle had happened the night before in the life of the man. Six months afterwards the same man, in full Salvation Army uniform, was again before the magistrates, but this time it was to plead for leniency on behalf of an old offender. The man was anxious to help in the same way as the Army Captain had helped him. One is today the Color-Sergeant, and the other is Drummer at the Corps. Many more similar stories could be told of the surprising work done by the love of God. Being taken through the medium of warm-hearted soldiers, the Gospel is being carried into the prison cells of our land. But surely these quoted warrant our commendation where prison bars fall. Love succeeds!

murder, and then he would follow them, by the action of his own hand, into the Great Unknown. Week after week the Officer visited him, only to find him adamant. At length, however, prayer triumphed, and one day the prisoner said, "Captain, you may pray with me today; I've always been praying before. I feel as if I want something more satisfying than my doing for revenge. I'm eating my very heart out." The Officer prayed, the prisoner prayed, and ere they parted a spark of Divine Love had taken the place of but this love had continued, and today, no more are welcome visitors at the house of this comrade than those who "gave him away" for all are soldiers of the same Corps.

So much for those who are first of us. Thank God—and to Him we ascribe all the glory—The Salvation Army has had equally glorious success with those who have travelled far in the pathway of crime. One man whom we have in mind had more than a score of sentences—chiefly for drunkenness and theft—against him, when one morning he appeared before the magistrates, and said, "I am no more with you, I am intoxicated. 'We can do nothing for you or with you,' said the chairman, and the chief constable added, 'Neither can anybody else!'

But the love of Army Captain stemmed towards the bench and said, "Gentlemen, may we have a try?" "Last night I heard that the prisoner had been locked up again, so I obtained permission to visit him, and I found him as drunk as I was. I was very drunk he also prayed and professed to find Salvation. We'll do all we can to help him if you'll only give him into our care!" The magistrates readily agreed to the suggestion, and discharged the prisoner to the care of The Army Captain, who took him to his own home, gave him some tea, and at night took him to the meeting.

Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.—John xv. 13.

Soldiers' "Seek to Save"

COLEMAN, Alta.—We have had farewell to Lieutenant Enalin and welcomed Lieutenant Yariell. On Sunday, Nov. 14th, the latter conducted the meetings, which were enjoyed indeed. At the conclusion of the evening meeting an opportunity was given for testimonies, and we finished up with a march around the hall. The Y.P. clerk is going ahead, and God continues to bless us in the "Seek to Save" Campaign. During the absence of our Officers at the Congress, the Soldiers carried on very successfully. On Sunday morning, Nov. 7th, one soul came forward for salvation. Sunday morning, in the District, eight children knelt at the Penitent-form. At night the Lieutenant spoke. Monday, Nov. 22nd, a demonstration was given by the Young People and workers. The Hall was filled. This demonstration was given on the following Thursday in the Union Church at Blairmore (our outpost). It was a decided success, and the attendance of both Deacons amounted to $55, which amount is for the Young People's work.

SHANAVON, Sask.—Some comrades from Tweed and Buffalo Horn had come in for the week-end, by car over 70 miles, on Dec. 4th, and we had eighteen on the open-air at night. In the meeting which followed, Captain Smith urged every comrade to be faithful. On Sunday morning we had a glorious time. The Captain is holding a "Walking Before God." When the invitation was given, eighteen knelt at the altar, and the blessing of a clean heart. The meeting ended at 10 minutes past 2 p.m. Lockets and chains were given up and rings taken off. It was glorious. Our Young People's work is growing. There were twenty at the Bible Class last Sunday.

At night the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, of the Methodist Church, was present, and gave a powerful testimony. Sister Walker sang, "Jesus Paid It All." Nine new Senior Soldiers and two Juniors were enrolled. Mrs. Captain Smith sang and testified. The Captain spoke on being "Cast Away." At the close three backsliders returned.

Let us think less of men and more of God.—Bailey.

The Sharing Life

"I once that they might live, and that they might have it more abundantly."—John 13.

By the abundant life, Jesus must have meant the sharing of life with others. It might be greatly in the development of our lives if we could accustom ourselves to the thought of changing our selfishness into the love of others. Many a man who is enjoying labor imagines himself in the place of those who are suffering. On the other hand, let the working-man put himself in the employer's place and ask himself how he would solve the problems of a great industrial organization. Let the mistress change places with her maid in the kitchen; and on the other hand, let the girl imagine herself taking care of the family with all the responsibilities of little children and the care of the house. It is because people do not have "sharing imaginations" that the selfishness and wrong and bitterness exist, which shut out the beneficial effects of the love of God. It is true that it is the most ignorant person who is fully possessed by the selfishness of the love of God. The most highly educated person who is living a life apart from God.—C. M. Sheldon.

Prayer is the chief thing that man may present unto God.

CALGARY II.—On Tuesday, Nov. 16th, we held a Half-Night of Prayer, which was a season of earnest pleading for an outpouring of the Spirit. Closing with the reading of the Holiness Covenant, we felt richly repaid for the time spent. On the Thursday following five souls ventured for complete cleansing, God thus answering prayer. On Friday, Nov. 20th, we united with No. 1 and H. Corps in a Holiness meeting led by Major Goodwin. God came in the power, and eight surrenders were made. We have said good-bye to Cadet J. Longton, now in training. As J.P.S.M. he labored faithfully for the salvation of the young. We pray God to make him an abounding blessing. Canally do we give him up as we know that he is entering a larger and good-bye to the Young People, said he felt the parting keenly, but he had for the call and was going to do God's will, and he hoped they would always be ready to do the things God wanted of them if even it meant sacrifice and suffering.

MOOSE JAW, Sask.—A harvest of souls at the Cross at the week-end meetings led by our Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Beattie. They were the best meetings we have witnessed for a long time. At the conclusion of a powerful address and a hard-fought Prayer meeting, twelve souls sought salvation. Among them was a man and his wife, an a mother with her son, and others whom we have prayed for for many months. To God be all the glory.

far more useful sphere of labor. Cadet Longton makes the third comrade from Calgary II. to enlist training in this service. We are proud of this and praise God. At the Cadet's farewell, representative comrades spoke of his excellent work in the Corps. Sister Mrs. Longton spoke very feelingly and said she willingly gave her son to God and The Army. Ensign Pratt referred to the sterling Christian character of Brother Longton.

any help that he could personally give. The Governor of Uganda (Sir H. Gordon) also received the Colonel cordially. This gentleman was a warm supporter of the Salvation Army when holding an administrative position in Kampala. Many were made by the Colonel where possible during his fifteen hundred mile journey from the coast to Victoria Nyansa and back. At one place where a European meeting was held seven seekers knelt at the impromptu penitent-form and found Salvation.

Appeals from Dr. Drink's Victims "I was much concerned," said the Colonel, "with the number of feeble, well-educated men who were victims of drink. They appeared to me to be in the task of breaking the habit. My response was the good plan of the Salvation Army, the Cross of Christ. Two, I rejoice to say, became Smith being in London for conferences soundly converted. They are now the salt of the town in which they live. In one case the drinking man of the town has banded themselves together to help the comrade so delivered by refusing to let him be tempted with drink, and encouraging him to follow The Army Colonel's way." I have received letters from him speaking of his complete deliverance and consequent happiness.

At Mombasa four Indians, two of them assistant teachers in the Buxton High School, introduced themselves to the Colonel as Salvation soldiers from Gujarat. The press of the country gave considerable attention to the subject of The Salvation Army pioneer in travelling thus far, the most authoritative organ devoting leading space at the time both of his arrival and departure, to the work of The Army and the benefits to Kenya which its activities would prove. Although it is too early for definite plans to be made known, Lt. Colonel Smith being in London for conferences on ways and means of commencing operations, it is thought headquarters will be at Nairobi, the capital, situated inland some 5,600 feet above sea level.
